Program Notes

In the vast expanse and perennial age of the universe there are two events that have captivated the minds of humans for centuries; The birth and death of celestial bodies. The captivating beauty of Nebulae giving birth to new stars in swirling masses of gas and dust have an alluring grasp on the conscience on mankind. The death of stars has a similar hold upon us, as Supernovae bring the destruction of star systems. This violent explosion, as malevolent as it seems, spews precious metals and elements into the universe to be picked and distributed by solar winds and asteroids; bringing valuable resources to nearby star systems and Nebulae.
